The Supreme Court of New Jersey held that a suspension from the practice of law for a period of three months was the appropriate discipline for an attorney who was charged in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Criminal Division, Cape May County, with possession of a controlled, dangerous substance, namely, cocaine, contrary to the provisions of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10(a)(1), a crime of the third degree. Respondent was admitted into the Pretrial Intervention Program.
